

Stillbirth Foundation Australia eNewsletter December 2009

Welcome to the December edition of the Stillbirth Foundation Australia's eNewsletter.

The Stillbirth Foundation Australia has enjoyed tremendous growth in 2009 - evolving into a national charity and importantly, by the end of 2009, it will have invested over half a million dollars in stillbirth research grants. Thank you for your continued and valued support which has created the Stillbirth Foundation Australia.

In 2010, the Stillbirth Foundation Australia is well positioned to continue working to reduce the incidence of stillbirth in Australia by funding research and raising awareness about stillbirth, and we look forward to keeping you up to date with our latest news and activities.

At this time of year, we receive many donations in memory of babies and the Stillbirth Foundation Australia wishes to sincerely thank those families and friends who choose to honour their baby's memory through support of the Stillbirth Foundation Australia – it's a lovely and humbling gesture.

Latest News:

2010 Funded Studies

The Stillbirth Foundation Australia is thrilled to announce that it will be funding five research projects during 2010. It is exciting to be able to support Australian researchers who have demonstrated such fabulous ideas and we hope that this research will make a difference to the stillbirth statistics. A summary of these five projects is available on our website.

In Celebration - Donating in Lieu of a Gift

If you are planning to hold a party to mark a special occasion such as a birthday, wedding or anniversary, or perhaps instead of giving and receiving Christmas presents, please consider a Celebration Donation and ask friends and family to donate to the Stillbirth Foundation Australia in lieu of a gift. All donations over $2 are tax deductible in Australia and a tax receipt will be issued.

Thank you to:

Dushy and Chandana Satkunanandan for organising for friends and family to donate over $2,000 to the Stillbirth Foundation Australia on their daughter Rasika's first birthday anniversary.
