little feet taking big steps... to reduce stillbirth

Most people are surprised to learn that 1, in every 100 babies born, is stillborn. Even more so, 40% of stillborn babies are born at, or near, their due date with no known cause for their death. These statistics have remained unchanged for the last 10 years.

In an age of enormous medical advances these deaths are a tragedy.

Stillbirth foundation aims to...

increase public awareness of stillbirth, and the effects it has on mothers, fathers and their families.

support hospital bereavement services by raising funds initially for an obstetric bereavement room within the Mater Hospital. The Mater provides counselling and support services to all families affected by the death of a baby irrespective of whether they have delivered a baby at the Mater Hospital.

fund & encourage research into stillbirth

Stillbirth Foundation conducts regular fundraising events and accepts donations from the general public.
